Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-13, 15, and 17-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Weiss et al. (hereinafter Weiss, US Patent Application Publication Number 2003/0014415, filed on February 22, 2001).

Regarding independent claim 1, Weiss discloses a method in which a user may use a web browser to select to view only a portion of a hypertext document that is linked to a hyperlink in any received hypertext document (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss). Weiss also discloses a method in which the portion is accessed and stored by a display station (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss). Weiss also discloses a method which enables the user to select and display the portion of the linked document (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss).

Art Unit: 2178

Regarding dependent claim 2, Weiss discloses a method in which a user may select to view the full document after viewing a portion of that document (Page 4, paragraphs 0092-0094 of Weiss).

Regarding dependent claim 3, Weiss discloses a method in which a user may select the size of the portion of the linked document to be viewed (Page 4, paragraphs 0081-0086 of Weiss).

Regarding dependent claim 4, Weiss discloses a method in which a user may use a web browser to select to view only a portion of a hypertext document that is linked to a hyperlink in any received hypertext document (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss). Weiss also discloses a method in which the portion is accessed and stored by a display station (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss). Weiss also discloses a method which enables the user to select and display the portion of the linked document (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss).

Regarding independent claim 5 and dependent claims 6-8, the claims incorporate substantially similar subject matter as claims 1-4. Thus, the claims are rejected along the same rationale as claims 1-4.

Regarding independent claim 9 and dependent claims 10-12, the claims incorporate substantially similar subject matter as claims 1-4. Thus, the claims are rejected along the same rationale as claims 1-4.

Regarding independent claim 13, Weiss discloses a method in which a user at a display station can select to view only a portion of a web page and based on that selection the portion of the web page is accessed from the web and displayed (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 and Page 9, paragraphs 0190-0195 of Weiss).

Regarding independent claim 15, the claim incorporates substantially similar subject matter as claim 13. Thus, the claim is rejected along the same rationale as claim 13.

Regarding independent claim 17, Weiss discloses a method in which a user at a display station can select to view only a portion of a web page and based on that selection the portion of the web page is accessed from the web and displayed (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 and Page 9, paragraphs 0190-0195 of Weiss).

Regarding independent claim 18, the claim incorporates substantially similar subject matter as claim 17. Thus, the claim is rejected along the same rationale as claim 17.

Regarding independent claim 19, Weiss discloses a method in which a user may use a web browser to select to view only a portion of a hypertext document that is linked to a hyperlink in any received hypertext document (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss). Weiss also discloses a method in which the portion is accessed and stored by a display station (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss). Weiss also discloses a method which enables the user to select and display the portion of the linked document (Page 2, paragraphs 0024-0043 of Weiss).

Regarding independent claim 20, the claim incorporates substantially similar subject matter as claim 19. Thus, the claim is rejected along the same rationale as claim 19.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. This application currently names joint inventors. In considering patentability of the claims under 35 U.S.C. 103(a), the examiner presumes that the subject matter of the various claims was commonly owned at the time any inventions covered therein were made absent any evidence to the contrary. Applicant is advised of the obligation under 37 CFR 1.56 to point out the inventor and invention dates of each claim that was not commonly owned at the time a later invention was made in order for the examiner to consider the applicability of 35 U.S.C. 103(c) and potential 35 U.S.C. 102(e), (f) or (g) prior art under 35 U.S.C. 103(a).

8. Claims 14 and 16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weiss et al. (hereinafter Weiss, US Patent Application Publication Number 2003/0014415, filed on February 22, 2001) as applied to claims 13 and 15 above, and further in view of Tracy et al. (hereinafter Tracy, US Patent Number 6,199,753, filed on November 4, 1999).

Regarding dependent claim 14, Weiss does not disclose a method in which a selected portion includes an incomplete image and that portion is accessed and displayed in text only mode. However, Tracy discloses a method in which a web page is displayed in text only format if there is not enough view space to properly display the images of the page in their entirety (column 11, lines 12-50 of Tracy). It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have combined the method of Weiss with the method of Tracy because it would have allowed more of the textual content to be displayed on a smaller area.

Regarding independent claim 16, the claim incorporates substantially similar subject matter as claim 14. Thus, the claim is rejected along the same rationale as claim 14.
